

Apple launched the iPhone 15 and iPhone 15 pro seven months ago, and now the company is set to release the iPhone 16 series.

The iPhone 16, iPhone 16 Plus, iPhone 16 Pro and iPhone 16 Pro Max are expected to be really different from their predecessors, according to the Independent.

Out of all the things that are easier to predict about the iPhone 16, the release date is by far the less difficult as Apple is a probable tech giant in the case of its gadget release dates.

In the first two weeks of September, the company most probably will announce its new series of iPhones specifically on a Tuesday or a Wednesday.

The iPhone 15 was revealed on Tuesday 5 September 2023, the iPhone 14 was revealed on Wednesday 7 September 2022, whereas the iPhone 13 on Tuesday 14 September 2021, in order to give an idea to Apple users regarding the latest iPhone 16 release date.

Before releasing on general sale a week later the following Friday, the iPhone is always available to pre-order on the Friday of that same week.

As a result, Apple is anticipated to unveil the iPhone 16 in the first or second week of this year's September. The date is likely to be either 2 or 3 September or 13 or 14 September.

After that, the iPhone 16 could then be launched on either Friday 13 September or Friday 20 September.