

1. Take online courses or workshops in subjects of interest or that will benefit their academic goals.
2. Participate in academic summer camps or programs related to their field of study.
3. Read books or conduct research on topics they are curious about or want to learn more about.
4. Volunteer for research projects or internships in their desired field to gain practical experience and connections.
5. Work on personal projects or start a blog or portfolio to showcase their skills and knowledge.
6. Practice skills such as coding, writing, or public speaking to improve their academic performance.
7. Network with professionals in their field through informational interviews or attending conferences and events.
8. Study for standardized exams, such as the SAT or ACT, to improve their college admissions chances.
9. Start preparing application materials for scholarships, internships, or study abroad programs to enhance their academic resume.
10. Relax and recharge by engaging in hobbies and activities that promote mental well-being and creativity, such as painting, dancing, or playing an instrument.

compiled by Berdiglych YAZMYRADOV, student of the Institute of International Relations of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Turkmenistan.