

On November 26, a creative evening dedicated to the 300th anniversary of the Eastern poet Magtymguly Pyragy was held at Astrakhan State University named after V. N. Tatishchev. Turkmen students presented musical performances and recited poems to the guests.

The event was attended by the Consul of Turkmenistan in Astrakhan, Gadam Ilamanov, a diplomatic representative of the Russian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and Turkmen students studying at Astrakhan State University.

Additionally, as part of the event, Gadam Ilamanov held a meeting with Turkmen students. The diplomat emphasized the importance of adhering to the law and encouraged compatriots to actively participate in the university's cultural and sports life.
