

Zuckerberg emphasized that the billions of dollars *Meta is investing in computing infrastructure, like GPUs, will pay off over time.

Meta plans to integrate DeepSeek's innovations into its own AI Llama, which is expected to launch with new multimodal capabilities in the coming months. Zuckerberg also noted that *Meta's strong business model distinguishes it from other AI companies that do not have sustainable financial support.