

Trump urged American AI developers to “act” in light of DeepSeek’s success

Trump said he was surprised by China’s achievements in this field and generally has a positive view of the success of Chinese developers. However, Trump emphasized that DeepSeek’s success is a signal for American AI developers to act.

The US President called for focusing on competition with China “for the sake of America’s victory.” Trump also assured listeners that during his conversations with Chinese leadership, he was told that the best scientists work in China.