

A fourth-year student from Magtymguly Turkmen State University completed a short-term internship in Japan under the Mutual Understanding, Intellectual and Academic Exchange Program (MIRAI) in the field of “Rule of Law.” This was reported by the press service of the Turkmen Ministry of Education.

The program aims to familiarize participants with Japan’s legal and educational systems, culture, art, and historical sites. Classes were conducted by highly educated specialists in this field.

Additionally, the course participants included law students, graduate students, and legal professionals from countries such as Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, Azerbaijan, Armenia, and Georgia.
