

The friendly and strategic partnership between Kazakhstan and Azerbaijan has reached a new level. As part of this cooperation, joint tactical exercises “Caspian-2025” were conducted with the participation of the naval forces of both countries. These exercises took place in the Kazakh sector of the Caspian Sea in April 2025.

The main goal of the exercises was to enhance the professional skills of naval specialists from both countries and to exchange experiences. Various tactical tasks were addressed during the exercises, ensuring coordinated actions of the naval forces and mutual understanding. This event marked an important step in strengthening the military cooperation between the two countries.

The exercises were led by the Chief of the General Staff of Kazakhstan’s Naval Forces, Captain 1st Rank Kanat Niyazbekov, and the Chief of the General Staff of Azerbaijan’s Naval Forces, Captain 1st Rank Teymur Murshudov. At the end of the event, representatives of the two countries summarized the results of the joint exercises and discussed future cooperation prospects.

These exercises are significant not only from a military perspective but also in strengthening the friendly relations between the two countries. Kazakhstan and Azerbaijan continue to work together to ensure the security of the Caspian Sea and maintain stability in the region.

This event opened new opportunities for cooperation between the two countries and strengthened their positions on the international stage. Such exercises contribute not only to military collaboration but also to fostering friendship between the peoples.
