

On May 28, the President of the Republic of Tajikistan, Emomali Rahmon, held an official meeting with the Vice President of the Asian Development Bank, Ingming Yang. During the discussion, both parties examined cooperation and future development opportunities.

According to the press office of the President of Tajikistan, Emomali Rahmon and Ingming Yang discussed the expansion of economic partnerships, the implementation of new projects, and increased financial support. Special attention was given to the efforts of the Asian Development Bank in supporting Tajikistan's economic growth.

Emomali Rahmon described the Asian Development Bank as one of Tajikistan's key financial partners, emphasizing its crucial role in infrastructure and economic development. He also expressed confidence in the continued support of the country's sustainable development strategies from the bank.

Following the meeting, representatives of both sides agreed to implement new investment projects in Tajikistan and further expand cooperation.