

A picture of a potential Huawei Mate 80 with a new camera surfaced on the network

A photograph of a smartphone appeared on the network, which can belong to the future series Huawei Mate 80, according to the media. A source in Weibo said that the device was noticed by passers-by in a “secret” case. The exact model is still unknown, but, for example, the unusual arrangement of the speaker is visible.

The back panel shows a large round camera in the upper part of the case. The lower lens is hidden with a finger, and on one side of the case a small sensor is visible, which can be a new multi-competitive lens. Also, an unusual neckline near the speaker is noticeable on top, the purpose of which is still a mystery.

After the leak, users began to put forward versions about the device. Some believe that this is the new Huawei, others suggest Honor Magic 8 or even Xiaomi 16. The leak can relate to any of them, but the network prefers Mate 80.
