

Asus named devices that will receive a test version of the firmware on Android 16

ASUS announced the start of testing the beta version of its firmware based on Android 16, which is called-Android 16 Beta. The beta testing program was launched in early August and initially covered the flagship model Zenfone 12 Ultra. Subsequently, the list of supported devices was expanded.

Now the beta testing program includes the following models of ASUS Zenfone 12 Ultra, Asus Rog Phone 9, Asus Rog Phone 9 Pro.

These models are already integrated into the beta testing program. According to the Gizmochina portal, the list of supported devices will probably be expanded.