

Steam support on Chromebook, which began as an experiment in 2022, will soon be completely closed. Users see notifications that support will stop by 2026.

Chromebook - comfortable and cheap laptops that cost much less than ordinary PCs. But before they were not considered a good platform for games. The appearance of Steam gave hope that the situation would change. However, the project never left Beta, and now it became clear that there would be no more support.

Although this is bad news for lovers of games at Chromebook, they still have other options. For example, you can play games with Android, run old games through emulators or use cloud game services such as Amazon Luna, Nvidia GeForce Now and Xbox Cloud Gaming.