

Protein plays a major role in reducing inflammation and maintaining metabolic health. These two factors help to achieve a more easy and sustainable weight loss. Here are what products with protein are better to consider for this.

Fat fish. This is one of the best sources of anti-inflammatory protein. There are many omega-3 fatty acids in such fish, it supports the health of the heart and brain. Include salmon, mackerel or sardines in the diet and eat them several times a week.

Legumes. There are many antioxidants and vegetable protein in beans, lentils. They also reduce inflammation, contribute to sustainable weight loss.

Photo recipe: Ali Redmond. Evewell Design

Lenten meat. Chicken, turkey, venison, bison meat contains a lot of protein and little saturated fats. There is usually a lot of iron in such meat.

Soy. Soye proteins are rich in full-fledged protein and isoflavones, which support the health of the heart and intestines.

News -in -law materials cannot be equated to the doctor's prescription. Before making a decision, consult a specialist.