

A poster appeared on the Web, which reveals new color options for smart watches Huawei Watch 5. According to information from the leak, the company prepares two fresh shade: dark blue and pale green.

The blue version will have a strap with the texture of jeans and a silver case with round glass. On the right side is the X-Tap button and the rotating crown. The green version will receive a soft pastel color and a strap with thin lines, which, as an idea, may like the female audience.

It is also mentioned on the poster that the clock is working on HarmonyOS 5.0. However, it is still unknown whether Huawei will add new functions or limit himself to a change in colors.
