

Mishustin noted the importance of buyer's security against the background of expansion of marketplaces

The Chairman of the Russian Government Mikhail Mishustin at a meeting with the head of the Rosakkreditation Dmitry Volvacha said that in the sector of e-commerce, including marketplaces, steady growth is observed. According to Mishustin, enhanced regulation and control are required to ensure the safety of consumers.

Mishustin emphasized that electronic trade is gaining more and more popularity, facilitating the process of ordering and purchasing goods and services through digital services. However, in order to maintain a high level of confidence in consumers and the compliance of the quality of services established standards and norms, strict control of activities in this area is necessary.

The Prime Minister turned to Volvach with a request to provide detailed information about measures that are accepted to ensure the quality control of goods sold through online stores. Mishustin emphasized the need for constant monitoring of compliance with certification requirements to guarantee security and high quality products acquired by citizens.
