

The head of the US intelligence admitted in faith in the existence of aliens

The head of the US National Intelligence Tulsey Gabbard said she believes in the possibility of aliens. Earlier, representatives of the authorities usually did not give direct answers to this question.

The 44-year-old Gabbard spoke about this in Pod Force One Podcast. When asked by the presenter, whether she believes in the aliens, she replied: "Yes." At the same time, she noted that, occupying such a high position, she should be careful in her statements.

Gabbard also said that the departments that she controls continue to investigate cases with UFOs and will definitely talk about the results of the public. So far, she cannot reveal the details, but promised that the information will appear "when the time comes."