

Megafon launched a unique service – now subscribers of any operators can go to it, retaining not only the number, but also the conditions of their current tariff plan. This applies to the subscription fee, packages of minutes, the Internet and SMS, even if Megafon does not have a similar offer.

To cross the transition, you need to arrange a new SIM card or use the MNP procedure (transferring number). Then it is enough to load the screenshot of the current tariff on the operator's website or show it in the cabin. After checking the data, the client will receive a promotional code to activate the "copy" of his tariff.

The new service is available to both new and current megaphone subscribers. For example, it can be used to design an additional SIM card with the usual conditions. In addition, eight megasila options will be added to the tariff for free of charge to choose, the ability to connect the number to the "megasemye" and access to the virtual assistant "Eva".

According to the commercial director of Megafon Dmitry Rudskiy, the service will be useful to those who want to change the operator due to the quality of communication, but are not ready to abandon the profitable tariff. The company plans to develop this service, taking into account user reviews.

The service works throughout Russia and does not require additional fees. You can arrange the transfer of the tariff through a mobile application of a megaphone or in communication salons.
