

On the eve of the country's Independence Day, new passenger buses began operating in our capital, Ashgabat. These new vehicles offer residents and guests of the city comfortable, modern, and safe travel conditions.

The new buses were manufactured by China's Yutong company. The 12-meter-long vehicles are equipped with three doors for convenient boarding and exiting. With spacious interiors, soft seats, USB charging ports, and air conditioning systems, the buses fully meet modern standards.

The engines of the buses comply with international Euro-5 environmental standards. In addition, the movement of the buses and the work of the drivers are continuously monitored by modern video surveillance systems. Payment is made through a digital system, making the process fast and convenient for passengers.

The first passengers have already praised the new buses, noting their quiet operation and comfort. The expansion of the capital's public transport fleet with these new buses is considered an important step in improving urban infrastructure.
