

If you think about buying iPhone 16, it is better to postpone a bit. Not because it is bad, but because iPhone 17 will come out very soon. He, as Gizmochina experts write, promises to become the largest update in recent years.

Apple has already confirmed the presentation on September 9. On this day, they will present the entire iPhone 17 line, including the new iPhone 17 Air. Pre-orders will open immediately, and sales will begin shortly after.

The main innovation is design. The iPhone 17 Air will be the thinnest Apple smartphone (less than 6.5 mm) and get a 6.6-inch screen and an updated camera. Pro-models will change the layout of cameras, receive a new case and improved cooling.

Another important change is that screens with a frequency of 120 Hz will appear even in basic models. In addition, all devices of the series will support expanded functions of artificial intelligence in iOS 26. New A19 processors and increased memory volume (up to 12 GB) will provide higher speed and efficiency. Therefore, you should not rush with the purchase of "apple" products.

But you will have to pay for the innovations. In the literal sense. Prices can increase by $ 50.
