

Schoolchildren of Turkmenistan won 16 medals at the International
Zhautykov Olympiad

Turkmen schoolchildren participated in the XXII International Zhautykov Olympiad in mathematics, physics and computer science, held in Almaty, the Republic of Kazakhstan, on January 10-15 of this year, and won 16 medals.

In addition to talented young people from our country, more than 610 schoolchildren from Azerbaijan, Belarus, Bulgaria, Georgia, Armenia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Mongolia, Pakistan, Russia, Romania, Tajikistan, Indonesia, India and Uzbekistan took part in the prestigious regional competition in mathematics, physics and computer science.

Today, January 19, a ceremony was held to award schoolchildren who achieved high results at the international Olympiad at secondary school No. 135 in Ashgabat, which teaches English with a specialization.
